Engineer firm to relocate

A firm that has impacted land - use change throughout this valley and Northern California to an extent matched by no other private agency, is about to give up its Pleasanton location.

MacKay and Somps, Civil Engineers and Land Planners, announced at week's end that the operations located in Pleasanton since 1962 will be relocated to Concord, effective June 1. The firm also has offices in Union City, Santa Clara, Petaluma and Modesto.

In the 13 years since a two - man team of engineers was sent to Pleasanton to set up a small field office, MacKay and Somps grew to a peak force of 30 engineers and surveyors. Just over 8400 residential subdivision lots, plus industrial and commercial sites, public projects and boundary disputes, have been handled in Alameda and Contra Costa counties by the office at Pleasanton. An estimate of the dollar value in new construction and land improvement resulting from that work is "well in excess of $200 million."

Such residential subdivisions as Del Prado, Stoneridge, Vintage Hills, Highland Oaks, Vineyard Terrace, Amador Estates, Oakhill, Rosepointe, Mission Park and Pleasanton Meadows, all in the City of Pleasanton, Appletree, Dublin Greens and Park Villas in Dublin, and Los Altos Heights inLivermore were the product of land - use studies and engineering by MacKay andSomps. Managed by Ted Fairfield before he was moved to vice president with offices in Santa Clara, the Pleasanton office is now under the direction of Dick Braden, office manager, and Larry Bartelson, assistant office manager.

The firm also played an active role in a number of community ventures throughout the valley. Fairfield serves on the Valley Memorial Hospital board of directors and is a past president of Pleasanton Rotary Club; Braden is past president of Pleasanton Jaycees and of the Pleasanton Firemen's Association; Bartelson is also a Jaycee past president in addition to being active with his wife in a number of youth - oriented programs.

A $4 million project recently undertaken with the City of Concord for expansion of that community's waste treatment system was largely responsible for the move, Braden explained. He added that the employes now resident in Pleasanton intend to retain that local residency.

The 4000 - square - foot office building owned by the firm at 120 Spring St. in Pleasanton is being offered for sale or lease, Braden said.

Dublin Green conflict may hinder development

DUBLIN — A stew may be stirring over some alleged inaccuracies in Dublin Green developer Ward Ryder's presentation last month before the Alameda County Board of Supervisors.

According to Silvergate Homeowner's Association spokeswoman Kathie Waterson, Ryder received conditional approval from the board for development of his proposed mixed, multi - unit development adjacent to the Silvergate area, but that approval perhaps was based on erroneous information.

Waterson claims Ryder presented a letter to the board from Mr. Chubbs of the Murray School District, which claims there will be no overcrowding in the schools as a result of the development.

Waterson counters with a Mar. 17, letter from Dr. Williams of the school district which says the schools will be overcrowded if the development is put in before the new junior high school is completed in 1977.

Waterson claims she contacted Dr. Williams about the apparent inconsistency and he told her his letter "overrides" Chubbs'.

Ryder also told the board of supervisors that 600 sewer permits would be available from Valley Community Services District in two weeks, and that the development was high on the priority list, according to Waterson.

A letter from VCSD to Waterson says the permits could be considered, but that there is no guarantee of the date of issuance, she said, adding the district told her of problems between the Pleasanton - Dublin line that had to be cleared up first.

According to Waterson, Emil Kattan, the district's assistant civil engineer, told her Wednesday he'd, "like to know where Ryder got his information," and that he, Kattan, didn't give it to him, although he concedes Ryder may have misunderstood VCSD.

Neither Ryder nor Kattan could be reached for comment late Friday afternoon.

The association will discuss the development at a Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. presentation before the PTA board at Nielsen School.

Additional topics will include a proposed 100-foot, landscaped park light perimiter between the existing houses and the development to provide a park - like atmosphere, blend with the neighborhood, and "give the people something besides a 20-foot gray wall" to look at, according to Waterson.

Fire control maintenance also will be discussed since nothing has been said of the weeds in a 15-foot storm drain easement separating the properties, she added.

The association also is concerned with drainage control problems in the area, and wants a commitment by Ryder to install proper drainage.

A portion of Waterson's yard "fell into the house" during a Christmas, 1971 rainstorm, she said, and "good drainage must be put in by Ryder" if he's allowed to develop the old "Church Hill."

Additionally, the area is plagued by a high water table and if the land is "covered by cement all that water will drain off into everybody's backyard, soaking under the pavement," she said.

Strike barriers to lift for youth park outings

All those schoolchildren who have been waiting all year to visit Sunol Regional Park won't be turned away because of the strike, but they won't be welcomed with open arms, either.

"Until further notice, field trips are canceled," was the official word from EBRPD's Chris Nelson, Chief of Parks and Interpretation for the far - flung district.

Nelson said EBRPD workers had called the transportation director of each school district Thursday morning, as the strike began, to let them know.

However, he explained no attempt would actually be made to keep school groups out.

There would be no docents available to guide students through the wilderness park, nor will there be any on hand at the rest of the 29 parks in the system. Although docents are volunteers, their presence at the parks conducting tours as usual would antagonize union workers, it is thought.

A busload of second - graders from Jackson Avenue School, Livermore, was turned away from the chained gate of Sunol Park Thursday morning. But it won't happen again, according to both EBRPD and union officials.

A spokesperson from Local 2428, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, said it was because of a "misunderstanding" that a naturalist was not unlocking the gate Thursday and Friday at Sunol. "It won't happen next week," she promised. "Our intention is to keep the parks open."

All parks are closed to the public from dark to dawn.

School groups like the Jackson Avenue class pay some $40 fee for use of the park for an all - day nature excursion, and many spend a good part of the year studying nature in preparation for the trip. It also costs money for hard - to - get school buses, and the parks are booked solid all spring with children's tours.

That was why parents and teachers at Jackson, and probably at other schools in the Valley where a trip may have been planned, were buzzing like angry hornets when the one field trip of the year was canceled with no hope of rescheduling it for later this spring.

EBRPD officials are hoping school groups will voluntarily cancel their trips for several reasons. First, the park toilets are of a type that have to be pumped out periodically under the supervision of trained personnel. It is not certain whether anyone will cross the picket lines to pump them.

Second, there won't be any-one on hand in case of emergency or to supervise the groups.

Third, the litter problem will quickly get out of hand because maintenance personnel are on strike. EBRPD is hoping the public will carry out their own picnic garbage if they do use the parks although strikers consider that "scabbing."

In short, it's up to individual school groups whether they want to cancel that long - awaited field trip.

The late spring and summer outlook is still in doubt, but one thing is probable: Seasonal employes who would have been on the job April 15 as the heavy - use season begins will probably not be starting work then.

There's no seasonal hiring going on, partly because some personnel workers are striking and partly because it would probably antagonize pickets to appear to be replacing them with non - union summer help, Nelson explained Friday.

Applicants would have to cross picket lines for their interviews. "It would be a poor timeto try and be hiring people," Nelson observed.

Meanwhile, strikers and management are said to be apart on some 75 issues. The main one, say union spokesmen, is a proposal by EBRPD to re - classify a number of workers into management positions which would not be eligible for union membership. That would cripple the 185 - member union (there are about 185 non - union workers in the district and 50 positions in dispute), union members feel.

LIVERMORE — A preliminary hearing into charges brought against Gonzalo Soria Ayala, 39, charged with possession of heroin for sale, was continued one week after rain and traffic delayed his attorney, Robert Duorne, some 90 minutes Friday.

Dorne also objected to District Attorney Carol Fickenscher's submission at the start of the proceedings of a criminalist's analysis of the alleged heroin.

Dorne was willing, "to go forward today," but would not accept the report at face value without, "the opportunity to review this (report).

The court's displeasure at Dorne's tardiness was expressed by Judge John A. Lewis who noted cases had been shuffled to clear the afternoon docket.

Fickenscher's entourage included five witnesses, all apparently police narcotics officers.

Ayala and Ramond Duran, Jr., Stockton, were arrested by State narcotics agents and local police at midnight, Mar. 18, as Ayala allegedly was passing some 400 balloons of heroin to Duran.

More secure now

Mori moves in legislature

PLEASANTON - The most freshman member of the California Assembly has so far introduced two bills and almost run down the governor in a Sacramento parking lot.

The introduction of proposed legislation was deliberate, Floyd Mori said in a Friday morning interview. The "run-in" with Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. was entirely accidental.

Less than a month ago, Mori was mayor of Pleasanton, engrossed in representing his 32,000 constituents in its battles with the state over sewer capacity, highways and the like.

Now, he is the state, in a manner of speaking and his constituency stretches from the Bay to the Altamont Pass. He was elected to the State Legislature on March 4 and on March 13, was sworn into that august body as the first assemblyman from "this side of the hill" in more than 60 years.

The 35-year-old former economics instructor from Chabot College has come a long way from his first foray into elective politics just three years ago but, he candidly, admits, he has a long way to go.

That is not meant to imply Mori is eyeing higher political offices but only that he is still trying to find his way around the labyrinthine Sacramento bureaucracy.

"I feel a little more secure now," he said. "I'm beginning to associate names with faces."

Mori has also been appointed to two key Assembly Committees — Revenue and Taxation and Education — two committees he had expressed a desire to serve on. He is also a member of the Industrial Safety Subcommittee of the Labor Relations Committee.

"Committees are really where the decisions are made," Mori said, and the Revenue and Taxation and Education committees are two of the busiest.

One of his major goals as a legislator is to initiate sweeping tax reform in the State of California, a project he has already begun.

"So far, it has all been piece-meal," he said, referring to tax reform legislation. "I am going to start talking to state economists to get their impressions of what major features should be included in a tax reform bill and how we might switch from a property tax to an income tax base."

Mori believes there are a "good number in the legislature now who would be more amenable than previous legislatures for income sharing at the state level."

The new assemblyman maintains tax reform is related to most of the land use, environmental and education problems facing the state and none of those can be effectively solved without basic tax reform.

The "hardest part" about the transition from small-town mayor to the State Leigslature, Mori said, is "learning the procedural rules on carrying bills. It's much more complex than a city council. Just learning the rules will be the most difficult part for me," he added.

As an example, Mori said he listened to a discussion on the Assembly floor about rules for a half hour before he realized "what they were talking about."

If there is a set of unwritten rules around the capitol, Mori said, "nobody has really mentioned it." But, he added, "I'm wearing a tie," a reference to Assemblyman Ken Meade's problems with Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy over the unwritten dress code.

Mori said he has found, without exception, all of the legislators to be "courteous and friendly. There are undertones of dislike," he added, "but I haven't detected people who really hate each other. They may disagree with each other but they don't become disagreeable about it and let it get too personal."

Mori is attempting to get back to the district (and his home and family in Pleasanton) as often as he can, even during the middle of the week, when it is possible.

When he has early committee meetings, he plans to stay in a Sacramento motel but added, he really does not mind the Pleasanton-Sacramento commute.

"I have a pocket dictaphone," he said, "and use the driving time to dictate letters and memos. I've found the commute time to be productive," he added, and he believes frequent visits allow him to keep in close touch with his constituents.

So far, he said, he has been able to answer every letter he has received personally and added, "I hope I can continue to be that responsive." Most of his mail to date has dealt with the malpractice insurance problem and with childhood education.

Mori admits he misses "the close relationship" of the council where "we were all working for the same people. Our problems were common. In the legislature," he added, "everyone goes his own separate way. Everyone's got his own problems with constituents."

Although Mori had been to the state capital numerous times as a Pleasanton councilman and mayor, he found his first visit to the Assembly floor the day he was sworn in "awesome" and admits he is still awed by the responsibility his position entails.

But Mori is also obviously intrigued and challenged by his new job and Pleasanton's "commuting assemblyman" plans to be around for awhile.

Council to ponder recycle hub plan

LIVERMORE — If staff recommendations are followed at the city council meeting Monday night, the Community Recycling Center will become the proud owner of a new 19-foot shed, Mr. and Mrs. William Dougherty will become the fixed base operator (FBO) at the Municipal Airport and Livermore Area Recreation and Park District (LARPD) directors will not get their way on an accounting request.

Council will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the Municipal Court Chambers, 39 S. Livermore Ave., to discuss the above and other matters.

Lois Hill, coordinator of the Recycling Center, has requested the city appropriate $460 for a shed to store and protect the center's electric can crusher and other recycling equipment. Also needed is $30 for a concrete footing.

A shed the city had provided the center was destroyed in the severe windstorm Friday, March 21, notes Hill.

"Since we are operating on city property under city sponsorship we feel that it is fitting that the new shed should also be city property," she explains.

City staff agrees and it will be up to council members to make the final decision on her funding request.

The Doughertys, of the Altamont Aviation, Inc. at the Livermore Municipal Airport, have been negotiating with FBO David Madis for the master lease.

City staff, after checking Dougherty's personal data and financial solvency, recommend he be assigned the FBO lease.

The LARPD board has asked that interest income from park development funds investments be credited to the Park Development Account of the Public Property Improvement Fund.

"Such action would increase the monies available for park development purposes. The board feels this would be both logical and reasonable in that the interest income would be credited to the account from which it was generated," the directors inform the city.

Interest earned on park development funds are deposited in the city's general fund — and that's where the finance director wants to keep it.

"Interest income from city monies is the fourth largest source of revenue to the general fund," according to George Nolan, director of finance. "Any deterioration of general fund revenues can only compound the very serious financial crisis now facing the general fund for the 1975-76 fiscal year."

Nolan also says that the LARPD request would further complicate the budgeting and accounting procedures and result in a "significant additional demand on an already complex accounting system."

Also to be considered by council at its meeting Monday night are condemnation proceedings for 36 acres adjacent to the airport for a clear zone on the west side and for land on First Street needed for a proposed overpass structure; establishment of a Social Concerns Committee; authorization of an automobile for the city attorney, and contracting for a Central Business District study by the city's current consultants.

Valleyite asks dump rezoning

Alameda County Bureau

Robert Molinaro of Pleasanton Garbage Service is seeking to have the 22-acre garbage dump site on Vineyard Avenue rezoned for development of single family homes.

The garbage firm had attempted to gain approval to locate its transfer station on that site when the dump reaches capacity this year but, after receiving unfavorable responses from the county and neighboring property owners, the company abandoned those plans. PGS has gained approval from both the city and county to locate the transfer station on a 7.5-acre parcel on Busch Road.

Molinaro's application for the Vineyard Avenue property seeks to rezone the parcel from agriculture to residential with a five-acre minimum building site area. If approved, that would allow approximately four homes on the site.

That Vineyard Avenue parcel will be one of five the Alameda County Planning Commission will visit Monday during its monthly field trip.

Other valley properties that will be included in Monday's field trip are:

— Two parcels containing 3.6 acres at 6637 and 6715 Dublin Boulevard. Rancho Sierra Investment Company is seeking to rezone the land from light industrial to general commercial.

— Three acres at the intersection of Dublin Boulevard and Village Parkway.

Floyd Mori plans Pleasanton office

PLEASANTON — Assemblyman Floyd Mori has made arrangements to rent at 1811 Santa Rita Road to serve as his valley office.

Mori's campaign promises was that he would maintain offices in both Hayward and the valley. His staff is still searching for a suitable location in the Hayward area.

Mori said Friday he still needs approval from the Assembly Rules Committee to operate two offices but added that approval would probably come next Wednesday.

He hopes to have the valley office open prior to the April 18 dinner in his honor set for the Pleasanton Hotel.

Karen Kinney, 25, a graduate of California State University at Hayward in political science, will staff the valley office. Kinney will also live in Pleasanton.

Washington, northernmost of the Pacific states, was admitted to the Union as the 42nd state, Nov. 11, 1889. Its capital is Olympia.

"How To Choose Your Realtor" Some Thoughts From Don Jones

With an impressive real estate office on nearly every corner in our community the potential home buyer or seller might well feel a sense of confusion when he comes to grips with the problem of "choosing a Realtor." Much as you select your doctor, dentist or other professional specialist, a great influence on your final choice is, naturally, your own feeling of trust in a particular individual and the comfortableness of working with him or her. This is certainly true when you look for a Realtor to help you in buying or selling situation, but there are guidelines other than your "feelings" which can help in the selection.

Don Jones of PRESTIGE HOMES in Dublin has some thoughts on the selection of a Realtor. "Look for that big 'R' in the window," Don stresses. "It's not merely a decoration but it tells you some very specific things about the people inside that office. In order to be a member of the Board of Realtors, we must first be members of the State and National Associations of Real Estate Brokers."

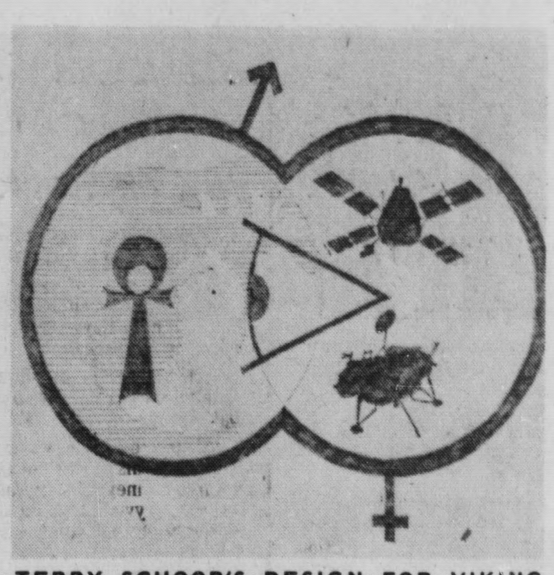
Realtors are governed by a strict Code of Ethics, the central theme of which is "Whatsoever Ye Would That Men Would Do To You, Do Ye Even So To Them."

The term "Realtor" has come to denote confidence, fair dealing and high integrity, and, to quote from the Code of Ethics, "No inducement of profit and no instructions from clients ever can justify departure from this ideal or from the injunctions of this Code." In order to maintain his standing with the Real Estate Board the Realtor must keep himself informed as to movements that effect real estate in his community, his state, the nation. He must be aware of current market conditions in order to be able to advise his clients of fair market price. He should be knowledgable of all facts pertinent to the property for which he accepts responsibility so that he may fulfill his obligation to his client and avoid error, exageration, mis - representation or concealment.

The potential home buyer or seller should choose a Realtor who is primarily engaged in the business for his livelihood, in other words, a professional Realtor. And choose a Realtor who is involved in the activities of his community, one who demonstrates his concern for his home town and is aware of zoning changes, city growth plans, transportation, schools, recreational facilities, etc. As Don puts it "The local broker is a specialist in his own community, he cares about it, and he wants you, his client, to feel good about the community, too."

Don also points out that California has the strictest licensing qualifications of any state and our Realtors are constantly striving to improve their own abilities through educational seminars. "And these are not 'hard sell' seminars, but courses involving law, financing, zoning, etc.," says Don.

Don't choose your Realtor the same way people sometimes choose a dentist ... by waiting until the tooth aches! Even if you are not contemplating selling or buying, feel free to visit any or all of the many fine Realtors in our community. "We welcome your visit to our offices in order to get to know you and so that you can get to know us. Then when you do need a Realtor you will be familiar with several and will be able to choose the person and firm best suited to serve you."



TERRY SCHOOP'S DESIGN FOR VIKING SPACECRAFT

Amador student in finals for Viking emblem design

Terry Schoop of Pleasanton's Foothill High School has a heavy date in late August which could turn out to be one of the highlights of his young life.

Along with sophomore classmate Karen Payne, Terry entered a contest to design an emblem for the Viking Spacecraft which will be Mars-bound (from Cape Kennedy in Florida) in either late August or early September. Terry's design was chosen as one of 10 national finalists. Karen's design, as well as Terry's, received certificates of award.

The region from which their designs were entered includes California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Hawaii and Guam.

While Terry doesn't know when he'll learn who the winner will be, he does know he'll be leaving in late August for an expenses-paid trip to Florida. He's never been out of the state so the plane trip from Pacific to Atlantic coast looms as a big event in this young sophomore's life.

Terry's sponsor is Melvin Friedman, head of the art department at Foothill. Both heard about the project (officially the Viking Student Project co-sponsored by the National Science Teachers Assoc. and NASA) during late fall of 1974. Six students from Foothill originally entered the contest.

Both of the award winners have extensive interest in art.

Karen has won three first-places in Pleasanton Recreation Department art shows and Terry has drawn for the Foothill yearbook and designed a mural displayed at Wells Intermediate School in Dublin.

The Viking Spacecraft is supposed to land on Mars on July 4, 1976 and, with Earth control, attempt biological investigations of any life on the red planet plus send back the first audio pictures.

Threat to senior meals

More than 130 senior citizens, many in wheelchairs, are in danger of losing their only meal each day because of a lack of funds this summer for the Meals on Wheels program.

Emma Vargas, director of Meals on Wheels headquartered in Hayward, said the program now provides a hot meal of meat, potatoes or rice, vegetable and dessert for home-bound elderly people from ages 65 to 93.

"In most cases it's their only well-balanced daily meal," she stated.

The recipients live in Livermore, Pleasanton, Hayward, Castro Valley, Fremont, Union City, San Leandro and San Lorenzo.

Georgia Seraphin, a cook for the program since its institution as a federally-funded program six years ago, said she "doesn't know where future funds are coming from after May."

Mrs. Vargas noted that Meals on Wheels now purchases food staples from the supermarket at the lowest prices, but still hasn't been able to find a wholesale grocer willing to sell items to Meals on Wheels.

"That's one need," she declared,"but the primary one is getting the Alameda County supervisors and the federal agency to continue their financial support for these older people who have supported others with their taxes for years, and now need help themselves."

LAA hosts Burnham

Jane received most of her training in watercolor from the late Elliot O'Hara, and she continues her education in art at the University of California.

'. . .and the whitest shirts in town'

The recent discovery of this print recalls another chapter from downtown Pleasanton's past. The setting is Main Street, near Division, in front of the building which today houses the American Cleaners. The man in the photo is Noel Lamothe, proprietor of the 'French Laundry' posing proudly with his first delivery wagon in 1908. The delivery wagon is evidence of a turn - of - the - century service that is difficult to obtain even today. The huge tree, with tilt, the wooden sidewalk and the dirt road were all typical of the Pleasanton of that era. An interesting sidelight to the story is the report that the horse and wagon were stolen soon after the picture was taken, according to the son, Paul Lamothe, of Antioch who permitted The Times to reprint the photo from his collection of old Pleasanton prints.

Times' Bailey to Orient

Corrine Mavridis of the Pleasanton Soroptomists presents Michael Bailey with Roget's Thesaurus for earning approval as the club's citizenship award-winner.

Times Darkroom Technician Michael Bailey will visit Japan for six weeks under the Lions' Club Youth Exchange Program to live with two Japanese host families beginning July 12.

Bailey has been with The Times since September 1972, working as both the darkroom technician and part-time photographer for the paper. He won a $1,000 general scholarship from Eastman Kodak in 1973 for his photographic work under the auspices of the 4-H club, and attained the rank of All-Star, the highest 4-H position bestowed at the county level.

The Lions' Club holds a crab feed annually to finance the Youth Exchange Program and help defray the student's expenses while in the foreign country.

Mike's father, Peter Bailey,is an eleven-year veteran of the Lions, having served as past president and zone chairman of the Pleasanton club, and is now the Deputy District Governor for Alameda and Contra Costra counties, which encompasses 58 clubs.

While in Japan, Mike has received special permission to visit the Nikon Camera manufacturing plant to observe the assembly of one of the world's most complex 35mm photographic instruments and the craftsmanship involved in the critical lens construction.

Mike, an Amador Valley High School Senior, is only the third Pleasanton student to have been accepted under the exchange program. He is planning to major in chemical engineering at either UC Davis or Cal State Hayward.

Bailey will depart San Francisco International Airport July 12 and return August 24 to begin college in the fall.

The Pleasanton Soroptimist Club as also submitted Mike's name to the national level for consideration of the Club's annual citizenship award. He will compete with other names submitted from Soroptimist Clubs from California, Hawaii and Nevada.

Dauphin's Origin

Dauphin was the title of the heir apparent to the French throne from 1350 to 1830, from the time the future King Charles V purchased lands known as Dauphine in 1349 and acquired the title of ownership "dauphin" which accompanied them. Granting Dauphine in 1368 to his son, Charles V, he established the precedent whereby the French king's eldest son became dauphin.

Mixed results for United in State Cup

FRESNO — Ballistic United under - 10 captain Karl Kesterke fought for the ball, gained possession and threaded a pass to Mike Deleray, who found the net with 38 seconds remaining to give United a 1-0 State Cup victory over the Walnut Creek Super Scoops at Lamonica Stadium yesterday.

The win was United's 33rd in as many outings this season, and also completed a State Cup drive which has netted them 28 goals to their opponents' zero.

Later in the day, United's under-14 side was victimized by what coach Bob Stewart called irresponsible officiating, and a fluke play which gave the Ahwanee Chiefs a 1-0 upset victory for the division championship.

"Mike looked dangerous all day, he played very hard," praised coach Art Dawe. "Kesterke's play was also outstanding. On the scoring play, he had to pass perfectly between two defenders. Deleray took it from there, and just outmaneuvered both Walnut Creek players for the winning shot.

The 10 a.m. contest was buffeted by a stiff wind, which combined with cold temperatures to make conditions less than ideal. Ballistic played the first half with the wind at its back, but could not find a scoring combination against the Scoops' tenacious, collapsing defense.

"They were playing seven or eight people in the goalmouth," noted Dawe. "We had trouble getting through that. We kept banging away, but couldn't penetrate."

Understandably, the Scoops' offense wasn't much, as goal keeper Andy Eelsing never touched the ball in the first period.

Dawe cited excellent play by defenders Donny Jones, Jimmy Kruger and Steve Rocereto throughout the game as an explanation for Walnut Creek's scant three shots on goal, all in the second half, thus all with the wind advantage. United finished the morning with 18 shots on goal.

"Jones was exceptional. He's very attack - minded. This was probably his finest game," added the coach.

Dawe went on to praise the Walnut Creek side. "They were well - conditioned and played great defense. They never quit.

"Cup games are usually this way. The longer it went 0-0, the tougher the Walnut Creek guys got."

Dawe called the officiating "fair," pointing out that one referee insisted on following strict FIFA rules regarding substitution. A player substituted - for must be off the field before his replacement can enter the contest, say the international rules, and Dawe noted that this requirement slowed play womewhat.

If Dawe's criticisms were minor, under - 14 coach Stewart found nothing praiseworthy in the conduct of his team's championship game.

"I've never made negative remarks about officiating prior to this," he said. "But the officials' inability to establish proper priorities definitely had a negative effect on the game. And it certainly detracts from the winners' performance when a game is as poorly handled as this was."

"An official has three main responsibilities: prevent injury, disallow an unfair advantage, and keep the game moving. In pro soccer, there's a tendency to give the injury aspect low priority. But this is youth soccer, and the gentleman who worked our game today was more concerned with keeping the game moving.

"Once I had two injured players on the field at the same time. Play was in a neutral area. Play was allowed to continue."

Stewart saw this as one of the critical factors in the game's reversal of form. Ballistic showed a tendency to move away from its normal ball-control game, moving to more kick - and - run play.

Ballistic's trustration grew, he said, as breakaways were occasional foiled by uncalled fouls.

"Mark Fish had two opportunities to score on breakaways," Stewart said.

"On one, he was taken down from behind by an opponent; on the other, he was literally tackled by the Ahwanee goalkeeper."

The winning score came six minutes into the game and developed from a corner kick situation. Fullback Russ Baine headed the kick out of the goal area, only to have it intercepted and returned to a crowd of seven or eight players.

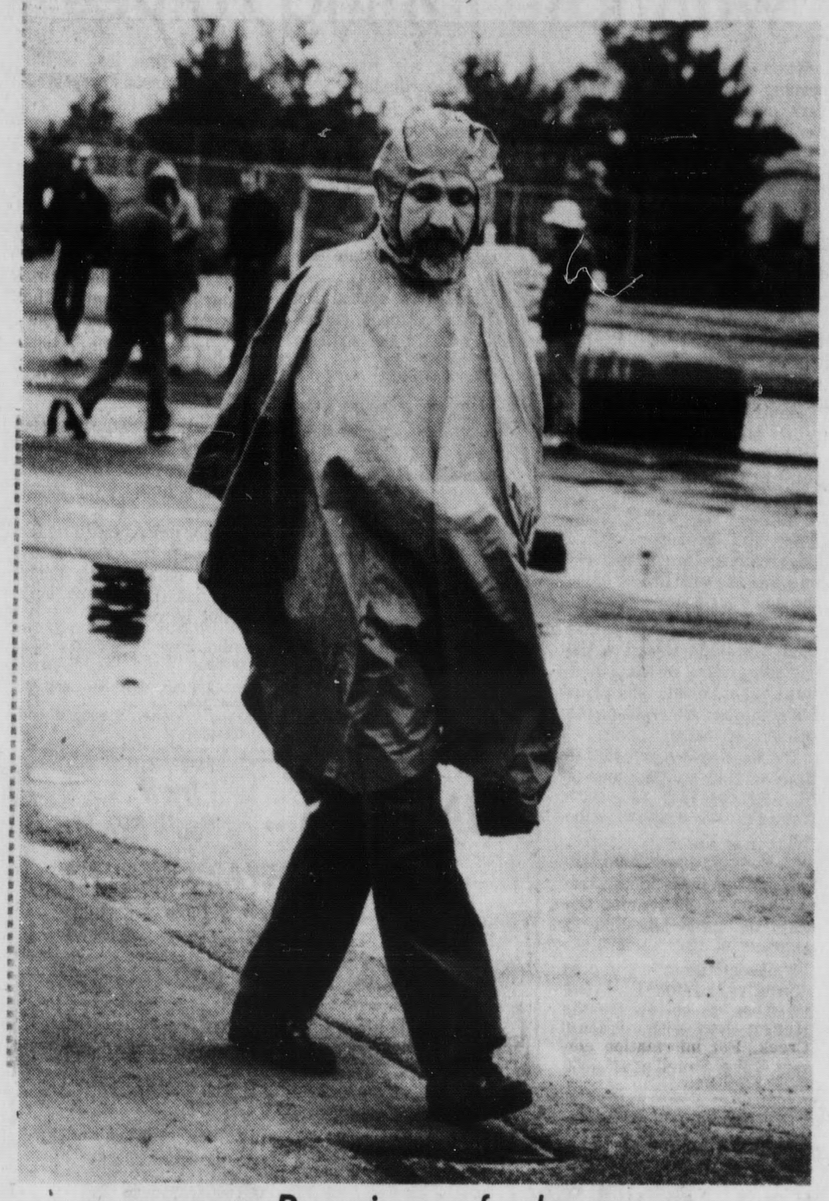
The ball was kicked around a half-dozen times by flailing feet "for what seemed an eternity" according to Stewart. Then, as the Ballistic goalie was positioned in one corner of the net, the ball found the other corner.

Scoring opportunities were spread evenly, as the Chiefs took a slight edge in shots on goal, 8-6. Kinney saved eight, and shared defensive honors with fullbacks Baine and Mitch Perreira.

Weather for the afternoon contest was a bit more tolerable than the morning conditions. Though wind and slight misting prevaled during the first half, skies cleared some in the second and there was actually sunshine for the closing ten minutes.

The Chiefs got excellent play from their center fullback, who showed the ability to anticipate and break up several of United's offensive drives.

Stewart hopes to have his team in the thick of high-level play again soon, as he looks forward to an appearance in the regional tournament in Las Vegas in mid-May.



Running afoul

Livermore track coach John Walden explains it all with a disdainful look groundward at yesterday's transplanted Martinez Relays. The event was moved from Alhambra's soggy oval to the all - weather track at DVC, which proved small consolation as athletes found the synthetic surface equally precarious. Giants' rotation is hardly familiar

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Retirement of left-hander Ron Bryant and veteran Tom Bradley's arm troubles will send the San Francisco Giants into the 1975 baseball season with a wholly new corps of starting pitchers from that of two years ago.

The experienced half of the rotation will be right-hander Jim Barr, 13-9, after starting last season as a reliever, and southpaw Mike Caldwell, 14-5, last year after two seasons with the San Diego Padres.

John D'Aquisto, 23, who was 11-14 in his rookie year in 1974, and Pete Falcone, a 21-year-old rookie left-hander, complete Manager Wes Westrum's starting four, with rookie John Montefusco, 24, as a spare.

Bryant, who arrived in camp overweight and was unimpressive in his exhibition appearances, was headed for the bullpen, where he spent most of last season after being the National League's top pitcher in 1973 at 24-12.

But Bryant gave the Giants a letter of retirement Wednesday after being rapped for four runs and 10 hits by the California Angels and on Friday told a news conference he is quitting baseball at 27 after six seasons with San Francisco.

"It's hard to turn down a $50,000 salary," Bryant said, adding: "In my own mind, I feel that I'm still capable of pitching well."

But he talked less like a man who might be back when he said:

"I thought it over all winter. I have two lovely children and I feel that I'm missing out on an awful lot of life. Basically I don't want to be away from home any more."

Bryant and his wife were divorced a year ago and remarried last winter. He said he is considering operating a 300-acre ranch near Flagstaff, Ariz. or getting into the restaurant business.

He gashed his side on a swimming pool slide at Palm Springs, Calif. in March of last year and lost three weeks of conditioning. "I guess that mentally I couldn't cope with failing to come back," Bryant said. "It preyed on me that the club relied on me as a winner and a leader."

The pitcher said he guessed the teddy-bear mascot he credited with bringing him good luck in 1973 will "go into hibernation along with Ron Bryant."

The Giants beat the University of Santa Clara 1-0 Friday in 11 innings on Von Joshua's home run. Barr gave the collegians six hits in five innings, and Caldwell allowed three more in the last six.

Today the Giants play Kansas City at San Jose, Calif.

sports

Mike Zampa, editor

After a 1973 season as the National League's only 20-game winner and the winningest Giant left-hander since Carl Hubbell in 1936, Bryant nose-dived to a 3-15 record with a 5.6 earned-run average.

Mullican's strategems pay off for Gaels

Tom Mullican wears his baseball strategy on the sleeve of a scarlet wind breaker.

You don't camouflage a tactic, he says. Just execute, and to hell with whoever knows it.

A couple of strategic gems with a typically Mullican flavor were the keynote Friday in Dublin High's 3-0 victory over San Ramon in Dublin. The drawn-in infield and the squeeze bunt directly benefited the Gaels who won their first league contest on a blustery afternoon after one defeat.

Steve Grant, who until this season had not pitched since Little League, went the distance for his second victory of the year. He too flourished on the strategic whim of the coach.

Grant faced an early crisis situation in the third inning of a scoreless game when San Ramon's Mike Cary reached third base with one out. Though tradition objects, Mullican sucked his infield up to the edge of the grass at that early juncture.

The succeeding batter ripped a one-hop slam to Dave Anderson at third base. Anderson held the runner at third, and cut down the batter, just as Mullican had forseen.

"I felt one run was very important, even then," he said. "The way the weather was, and the way the pitchers were going, it could have very easily been a one-run game."

That philosophy dictated to Mullican in the fifth inning when Dublin loaded the bases with one out on an error and two walks. He went to another of his favorite tools, the suicide squeeze bunt. Only there was no effort to keep the secret from San Ramon Mullican pulled scheduled hitter Robin Sherwood out of the batter's box, and replaced him with bunting specialist Tim Wainwright.

In the stands, even mothers and girl friends knew what was coming. Wainwright created a thinly veiled diversion by failing to square for the bunt on pitcher Dan Egbert's first delivery.

He dropped the next pitch perfectly between the mound and third base however, scoring pinch runner Jim Tunter.

"If you can bunt the ball on the ground on the squeeze play, you'll score every time," Mullican said emphatically. "He (Wainwright) did it, and he did it right. There's no way they can get you out."

Following Wainwright's bunt single, Larry Castello fisted his second hit of the game, a single to center field, scoring Kurt Rohren and Sean Mays with Dublin's other two runs.

The rest was left to Grant, who flirted with disaster twice but emerged unscathed.

In the top of the sixth inning he gave up a slicing double to Paul Miller, then walked Ed Aitken and Ed Flanagan to load the bases with two out. Cary came up, and forced a runner at second base to end the threat.

"If one more man (Cary) would have reached base, I would have taken Grant out," said Mullican. "He had no type of breaking ball out there. But it's a tribute to the type of individual he is that he stayed out there without his best stuff. It's that intestinal toughness that makes him a good pitcher."

Grant gave up a walk and single in the seventh inning, but settled down to retire the side without incident.

It was the second shutout for the senior right-hander this season. His other came in his first pitching assignment since Little League days, a no-hitter during the Mission Valley Easter Tournament. Grant struck out nine that day, but failed to fan one Friday.

Nevertheless, he pitched a four hitter against the Wolves.

San Ramon's Egbert gave up just four hits to Dublin, but the two fifth-inning walks were fatal. —Mike Zampa

Track and Field News, is a monthly treasure trove of statistics and features designed to sate the appetites of even the most crazed followers of the sport. "The Bible," it's called.

So when a Sacramento sportswriter opened his Apirl issue of TandFN last week to read that ABC-TV had recently announced that it was dropping Monday night Night Football in favor of Monday Night Track, his dedication to factual reportage compelled him to call the magazine's offices in Los Altos.

Was it true, he wanted to know, that ABC would seat feuding pole vaulters Steve Smith and Bob Seagren in the announcer's booth alongside Howard Cosell? Did ABC really intend to feature a "chicken race" combining the International Track Association's pro football 40-yard dash and shotputter vs. female sprinter novelty events? — by lining up four shotputters at one end of the straightaway and four football players at the other, and having them run head-on toward a common finish line? And what was this about an indoor javelin, indoor discus, indoor hammer?

The reporter stayed on the phone a full 30 minutes with the magazine's editors before satisfying himself that the article, by freelancer Ron Somers, was only a spoof on the new approach to track and field being taken by ITA, the professional tour now in its third year.

Were this 1973, the phone call would have been believable. Two years ago at this time, Mike O'Hara's traveling zanies were reeling from the effects of a disastrous "Grand Opening" in Los Angeles in which finish tapes went up a lap too early in two races and the remainder of the meet follow two races, one of them pictured in Sports Illustrated. President O'Hara was not amused, and took to cleaning up the show.

ITA had signed a stable full of well - known track manes — milers Jim Ryun and Kip Keino, shotputter Randy Matson, sprinters Lee Evans and Larry James — and was enjoying surprise performances from the likes of Brian Oldfield, who threw the shot past the 69-foot mark six times, two of those over 70. But "bad press" from the L.A. meet, and the prevailing notion that ITA little more than an inflated sideshow, made the task of coordinating publicity for the 14 remaining cities that much more difficult. Worse yet, the headliners for some reason weren't delivering. The mile, for example, produced one race under 4:00, Jim Ryun's mid-season 3:59.8.

Ironically, that race was run without Keino, who had come to town (Detroit, in this case) two days early for some television interviews, only to find that no hotel reservations had been made for him. Kip spent the night in the cab of a truck, caught a cold and flu, and nearly stayed in Kenya at the end of the mid-season break.

I had the good luck to travel with ITA during its first season, as a temporary three - month utility man. My duties ranged from backup meet announcer to keeper of the balloons and beanbags. We used them to markthe shotputters' best throws.

One weekend there were back - to - back meets in Albuquerque and Oklahoma City. The airline flew ITA's special equipment, including the innovative pacer lights used to measure a runner's progrees against a given time, to Denver. Luckily, the Oklahoma City facility was well - equipped. Nobody knew the difference.

In Kansas City, a high school drill team performed for 45 minutes in what was supposed to be an "opening ceremony." Athletes who had taken their usual warmup were surprised as surprised as ITA management, and the meet that followed was as exciting as — well, as exciting as watching a high school drill team.

ITA's first tour ended in Madison Square Garden, New York. My chief assignment was to take a small scales to the New York City Bureau of Weights and Measures so that we might accurately weigh the shots being used. I spent three hours learning about every measuring device ever used in New York, as a man in a green visor prolonged a 15-minute job. But it was essential that we have correctly weighed shots. This was the Professional Championships, and more than one cynic had suggested that Oldfield's 70-footers were done with 14-pound rather than 16-pound balls. Such were the slings and arrows aimed at the ITA in its attempt to popularize a long - sterile sport. Some thanks. As for the scales, there was never a need for them. Not a single challenge.

Dons eclipse Matadors with late-inning rallies

When someone mentions opening day at the baseball park, sunny skies, 70 degree weather, hot dogs and popcorn come to mind."

Friday's East Bay Athletic League opener between the Amador Dons and Granada Matadors had monsoon conditions to contend with, as the Dons pulled out a narrow 4-3 victory.

The Matadors' home diamond was the setting for the contest, which drew a dozen spectators at best.

There were no sunny skies, rather black ones preparing to pelt the field; no 70 degree temperatures, rather 40 degree ones accompanied by 30-mile per hour winds; no hot dogs and popcorn, rather fingernails and pencils to gnaw on while the wind drilled holes through your body.

The players sat bundled in their warmup jackets in the dugouts as they awaited their turns at bat, or with their arms folded in the field awaiting the delivery of the next pitch.

The Dons thawed out just in time, as they scored a pair of runs in the fifth and sixth frames to shiver off with the win.

Mark Larson continued to hold a magic wand over opposition bats, as he stymied the Mats on three hits and 12 whiffs.

Strikeouts seem to come as easily to Larson as tying his shoes, as he rewrote the Lion's Club Easter Invitational strikeout record a week ago when he sent 28 batters down on strikes in his two appearances on the hill.

At the end of four frames Granada was on top 3-0 and Steve Stone was cruising along with some sharp pitching.

But Amador's senior shortstop, Greg Bellinger cut that margin to 3-2 when he cracked a single to plate two runs.

The floodgates opened for Granada when Amador rallied for two runs in the sixth to claim thier first lead of the day, one Larson preserved with the utmost care.

With one away right fielder Ed Bevilacqua walked. After Mike Johnson was retired the Dons' first sacker Ken Dalrymple singled, putting runners on first and second.

Pinch-hitter Dave Krikorian lashed a single to right, scoring Bevilacqua, and when the relay throw hit a chugging Dalrymple between second and third base on the head, he scored with what turned out to be the winning run.

Bob Stoddard came on in the seventh to mop up for Stone, who suffered the loss, Granada's first of the infant season.

Amador moved into a tie for first place in the exceptionally balanced EBAL, with Monte Vista and Livermore both sporting 1-0 records.

Weiskopf by 4

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf struggled through testing, tricky winds to a 72 but still retained a solid four-stroke lead Saturday in the third round of the $225,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

Weiskopf, the only leader this event has had, went to an overpar round for the first time in the tournament, but none of the field could make a major challenge in the shifting winds that gusted to more than 30 miles an hour.

Weiskopf had four bogeys in his one-over-par effort, but his 54-hole total of 207 left him six-under on the 6,643-yard Sedgefield Country Club course.

And Weiskopf, who hasn't won since his banner season of 1973, remained in firm control.

Ken Still, a bubbly 40-year-old veteran, moved into second with a 69 but remained well back at 211.

Weiskopf, as everyone else, had trouble on the glass-slick greens that he called "the fastest I can remember on the tour."

Park 'reassessment' raises serious questions

The city council's decision to "reassess" some long-standing commitments for park and recreation projects raises serious questions about the value of a commitment from the council and about the true state of the city's finances.

If the situation is indeed as bleak as was painted Monday night by several park and recreation commissioners (and Tuesday night by Police and Fire Chief Walter McCloud), perhaps more than just the recreational capital improvements need reassessing.

If that is the case, however, it is a rather startling eleventh hour discovery that is not reflected in the preliminary $7.3 million budget for the coming fiscal year.

That budget, while not painting a bright picture of city finances, does give the impression Pleasanton is holding its own — barely, perhaps, but nonetheless holding its own.

City staff is proposing only a four-cent tax rate hike in that preliminary budget, although as much as 17 additional cents might be levied under the SB 90 formula (although the city will not know for sure until the final assessed valuation figures are released in August).

The decision to place the extra tax burden on citizens will ultimately be a political decision that will rest with the city council.

Ironically, however, that additional 17 cents would generate almost $180,000 — nearly identical to the $186,000 in revenue sharing funds that have been taken away from the capital improvements budget and sunk into the general fund to balance the budget.

Pleasanton is not alone in that decision to use revenue sharing funds for operating expenses this year. Across the nation many communities — which, like Pleasanton, had tried to use those federal funds for one-shot capital expenses rather than commit themselves to on-going expenses — are faced with the necessity of using the money to keep their cities going.

Notwithstanding the city's financial condition, however, it seems there should be a point when commitments made can be expected to be met and, with several of the park and recreation projects, it appears that point has been passed.

This city has been chastized for keeping commitments to developers regarding sewer commitments, and, while commitments to park and recreation projects do not carry that legal weight, those projects which have been planned for several years should — at the least — carry a moral obligation that would insure their completion.

Beyond that rather nebulous commitment, those projects represent an enormous amount of staff time and money in engineering and design work in bringing them to the present point.

To scuttle them now would not only waste that effort at a time when the city can ill afford any waste, but could seriously damage the credibility of this local government at a time when trust and confidence are increasingly difficult to maintain.

School boundary options

In previous columns we have reviewed some of the 11 options advanced by Dr. David Carlisle and the Pleasanton Elementary School District staff on the question of district boundaries.

To retrace the situation briefly, the district will find it necessary in 1975-76 to move students for housing purposes. Carlisle and the district staff also see the problem as being one of organizational structure (Grades K-3 and 6-8 housed on same campus at Pleasanton Elementary), starting times and the belief that the area north of the Arroyo del Valle is overcrowded.

Carlisle estimates that their will be an additional 275 students in the district by the spring of 1976.

With the estimate plus the current enrollment figures in mind, plus "ideal" and "maximum" capacities as figured by Carlisle and the principals, the district is attempting to accomplish the following; 1) Develop a long-range plan for housing students, 2) Keep the neighborhood school concept intact, 3) Start all schools at a reasonable time, and 4) Provide that any change in the organizational structure of a school insure continuity of program.

Today we'll take a look at Options V, VI and VII. In previous articles it was noted that Option II is the one recommended by Educational Coordinates, a computer firm brought in by the district to analyze facts and figures entailed in each of the options.

The strength of Option V lays in the elimination of the problems connected with housing primary and middle school children on the same campus at Pleasanton Elementary. There would be greater utilization of space at Valley View School. Additionally, all Pleasanton Valley pupils would be housed either at Harvest Park or Walnut Grove. This would stir more crowding at the former. Carlisle sees the weaknesses of this option as being ones of transportation...caused by transferring overloads from Pleasanton Valley to Alisal and Valley View. Also, there could be some disgruntled feelings from parents whose children now attend Pleasanton primary.

Carlisle says that a variation of this option would be to transfer relocatable classrooms at Harvest Park to Walnut Grove, thereby increasing Walnut Grove's capacity to 1,055. Fairlands' roll in this option would be to assist Alisal and Valley View with overloads if Pleasanton Valley enrollment exceeds the projected amount.

Option VI has the identical strengths and weaknesses as Option V. The district staff also believes there could be "community problems" from Del Prado area parents whose fifth grade children now attend Alisal.

This solution calls for the transfer of the fifth grade from Del Prado to Pleasanton Elementary...that is, students from that area to Pleasanton. As much as Del Prado residents have pressed for a school of their own, it appears highly unlikely they will get one on the land the district has had for several years now.

Valley View's role would include taking Pleasanton primary students. The fifth grade would be transferred from VV to Pleasanton.

Option VII eliminates problems of housing primary and middle (grades 5-8) school children on the same campus at Pleasanton. It would also create greater utilization of Valley View.

Weaknesses revolve around transportation problems that would be caused by transferring overloads from Pleasanton Valley to Alisal and Valley View. There may also be the foreboding "community problems" from parents whose children now attend Pleasanton primary.Also, K-5 schools will be near or at maximum capacities. Pleasanton Middle School (5-8) would then be under utilized.

This option would necessitate a redistribution of relocatable classrooms at an approximate expenditure of $1.500 per classroom. The district may have to acquire additional classrooms for K-5 use should enrollment exceed projected amounts. The phase-in process of two zones in Del Prado East plus new anticipated growth from Heritage Valley would mean that Pleasanton Middle School enrollment would automatically increase by two sections per year until the phase-in process has been completed. Also, Harvest Park's enrollment will similarly decline by 40 to 50 students per year unless offset by new construction from Pleasanton Meadows and Pleasanton Valley.

In upcoming columns, we will look over the remaining options and then do an overall review.

Trustees are expected to select one of the options to be used next school year at their May meeting. Any residents with children in the schools affected (who wish to learn more or make a comment on the options) may contact Carlisle at the district office (462-5500) or any of the following trustees; Al Dutchover, Karen Finn, Joe Schwab, Dr. Guy Clark and Betty Nostrand. The latter, along with Schwab, will be sworn in to four-year terms at the Pleasanton Elementary board meeting of Wednesday, April 9 at the District Educational Center.

VCSD tax raise hit

Editor, The Times:

In response to the article "VCSD prepares for tax boost election drive." Seems to me it would be better to have a meeting on how to decrease taxes.

There are people out of work wondering how to make their house payments now, and the ones who are working are being taxed to the point the pay check just doesn't reach.

There are enough people living here; so that if they want a park bad enough they can get out and build it. Maybe if the children they're talking about building a park to play in did something constructive for a change like heLping build a park perhaps they wouldn't tear it up after it was built.

I'm getting tired of paying tax dollars to large construction companies to build parks etc. The construction Co. makes a large profit, if building something for kids to play in, and then it's almost necessary to have the Nat'l guard on hand to keep the people it was built for from tearing it up.

It might be well for voters to consider the amount of tax. Maybe its only $40.00 a year, but that could buy shoes, food or many needs right at home.

I'm against the tax increase. We had the situation in the country before it was called the Boston Tea Party. Tax payers (think before you vote increase!)

round the town

Warning! The following comments may be sensitive to certain adults. They are intended only for high schoolers, newlyweds, small children and others who frequent today's show houses.

The question is: "How do you prefer your pornography?" I only raise the point here because there is talk of reviving that debate on the valley scene . . . this time at the neighborhood movie palace in Pleasanton. Some of the folks are disturbed with the return of "Those Movies!" at the Amador Valley Theater. There is talk of protests, pickets even. Violence (throwing pop corn at the manager?) could result.

The first volley was fired by a letter writer who addressed her remarks to the owner of the Amador Shopping Center, with a copy to this newspaper. Patricia Roraback alls those X - shows "trashy." Wonders why the management doesn't show "current movies" of presumably broad family interest, to guarantee crowds and keep the place open.

If you have been to many (any?) shows lately, the next question is obvious — "Where do you find a popular movie that doesn't have a touch of porno?" But then again, "What's pornographic?"

The American Heritage Dictionary should be one good source. So we checked. "pornography — Written, graphic or other forms of communication intended to excite lascivious feelings." It comes from the Greek word "pornographos" which means "writing about prostitutes." That suggests we may all be on the wrong track. (We are also required to look up "lascivious feelings" which, AHD tells us, means "characterized by lust."

Now that we are all clear on what it is we mustn't expose ourselves to, the problem is — "where do we not go to avoid said exposure?" Certainly not to those XXX movie houses, say some. Not even the neighborhood theater, say others.

Last week we took our youngest to a Walnut Creek showing of "Funny Lady." What could be more innocent than a movie about Fanny Brice, with stage settings by the imaginative Billy Rose. We remembered them both from the Treasure Island World's Fair. Magnificent family entertainment. But not according to today's movie version!

Never have I sat through more dirty language in the alleged pursuit of art. Even if Fanny and Billy really talked that way, it is difficult to imagine they swore that much! — and for such little provocation.

My own feelings were best expressed by a little old lady seated alongside, and who wondered aloud, after the 298th expletive undiluted — "I though this movie was supposed to be funny."

So much for "family shows about funny people." I had previously recited the perils of "Father's Day" as a current SF stage show, and it was only slightly dirtier than "Funny Fanny" because it was in real life. Somehow it's hard to imagine that people talk that way, hour after hour, day after dismal day.

Is television any better? Not if you stay up past 9 p.m. (most adults don't; all children do) and watch "movies for adult interests" that are screened on the boob tube of a given evening. They don't actually swear at you. Just knife, garrote, torture and otherwise decimate the human form in the interests of selling more Right Guard, so that at least some part of us will smell nice.

Maybe the answer is to take up reading. Send the youngster down to his favorite store to buy Reader's Digest, and a case of Coke. But make him promise not to flip through Playboy hard by the cash register, or glance at the array of bare bosoms stretched out in living color along the magazine rack. (I tried buying without glancing; quite impossible, let me assure you.)

Even National Geographic will display a bosom or two in each edition. Not white girls, mind you. Just those dark, native types. The kids have to be taught the difference — between white bosoms (forbidden) and black bosoms (don't count because "they aren't like ours"). There is a new comic book on the market. Full of "straight talk about venereal disease." With graphic displays. I was a 17 - year - old innocent with the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve when that bit of information was first imparted. By a fat Petty Officer, who kept winking at us as he talked. (I thought the poor man had some optical affliction.) "The Navy doesn't care WHAT you do, or WHO she is; we just want to make sure you understand HOW to do it, okeh?" And he'd laugh a little, leer a little, wink a lot. For a first lesson in sex education, it was a dilly. Took me two years to get up the courage to kiss a girl. Even my sister. ("You don't trust NOBODY!" the Petty Officer had warned us. Scared the hell out of me.

Maybe that's what we need in the neighborhood show houses, and on the evening tube. Real shows about "real sex." The gruesome, tiresome stuff that Hollywood keeps hinting about, but rarely gets around to spelling out. On the screen. Fill the little people with enough hang - ups on sex, VD, alcoholism, marital mayhem etc etc., and they'll never date, drink, love or marry. Which is the way a lot of young folks are headed, come to think of it.

The "entertainment" industry is solving the world's population crisis by making love dirty, marriage impossible, and procreation something queers do with their tongues. So you want to start picketing? You bet! But tell me, just where do we start?

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Pat Kennedy thought she had me cold.

"See," she said. "That PROVES he doesn't read our budgets." The lass was howling with laughter while this old man stormed about the room in search for one Jean McKenna whose budget had informed me she had 100 inches of Club Capsules in overset which had to run on April 2.

I didn't bother to read the second line which informed me the Pleasanton Junior Women's Club had skipped town with Mardi Gras funds. I just started to yell for McKenna and where the hell did she think I was going to find a hundred inches of newsprint for her Club Capsules.

The evidence, Kennedy later agreed, was all on my side. I most certainly had read Jean's budget, though not past the first item.

What I had not done was looked at the calendar that morning which would have informed me the date was April 1 and that it was All Fools Day.

The day, I suspect, was reserved for newspaper editors the way some of them behave in this valley and certainly there is no reason why the members of their staffs should not take advantage of it for a little friendly spoofing.

Such spoofing could be dangerous, admittedly. But with a little care and an editor who does not blow his stack on the first line they are, I think, acceptable.

Had I started with the note from one Al Fischer I may have been a little wiser. Al announced in his budget that President Ford had agreed to enter the KNBR parade and that he would ride with Carol Doda. "Do we have mug" he added as an afterthought.

Fischer's budget deserved an answer. A crisp little memo. "Which mug? Doda or the president? Please be specific."

A man can have a little fun with that type of note. Al and I might have kept the repartee going for months.

Instead it was my bad luck to stumble across Jean's jest first. And hand the entire staff a laugh.

Karel Kramer was amusing, but she would never have fooled me. "Miller (I believe she meant Don Miller) supports growth and widening of 580 w/art (Don w/sign in one hand saying "Liv. Welcomes New Town." and pick and shovel — for widening — in other) PLEASE DO NOT CUT 15-20."

Perhaps I should explain at this point that a budget is a list of potential stories for the day offered the editor by the reporters on his staff. Which is why Karel probably knew her budget would never get by this old man.

Don Miller is an intelligent man. He is bound to see the error of his ways and change his mind and public stands on important issues like Interstate 580 eventually. I could accept that easily.

But Karel is a wise lass. She knows I would never accept that "PLEASE DO NOT CUT" line.

Karel also suggested that the planning commission in Livermore had suggested razing Portola Hills and that she was offering the story together with an arty sketch of how the area will look.

That, of course, reminded me of a story about an area named Lone Hills estates in the Santa Clara Valley but that is another story and I will not tell it here. Let it be enough to say that, having been aware of the Lone Hill fiasco some score of years ago I could easily enough have accepted the Portola razing suggestion.

As for the last item, Helen Tirsell quitting the Livermore City Council so she could stay home and be a good wife and mother, I might have questioned her real reason for resigning.

A woman with Helen's rare talents and ability who is also blessed with beauty is most certainly able to hold her job on the city council and be a good wife and mother, roles I am sure she fills easily.

(Anyway, I can't see that a Livermore City Councilwoman will have much to do in the future, what with the virtual stoppage of all growth and development in the area.

Once the railroad relocation is accomplished and the Sound and Fury from that job has subsided I imaging the Livermore Council can schedule its meetings once a month and get all the work done. Helen will probably accept an administrative post with the Parent Teachers' Association out of pure boredom. Pat Widder's budget was interesting but strangely for such a pristine lassie, almost completely unprintable without involving this old man in libel.

I did, however, find her report that John Murphy had resigned from the Alameda County Board of Supervisors and named Robert Several as his successor somewhat amusing. (For those who have never seen the publication, the Independent is a tri-weekly published in Livermore and distributed among a select few in the valley. Robert Several is its editor and his admiration of Supervisor Murphy matchless to say the least.)

Of course I rejected her suggestion that John Edmands had been hired away by the Livermore Branch of the Hayward Daily Review. The suggestion was overtly libelous and I only publish it because I know John has a fine sense of humor and anyway, if he sued me he would be one of the defendants.

From Ron Rodriguez, my favorite ex-bartender, I received a budget I just could not understand and which I could not print the portions which were within the realm of my reason.

Let it be enough to say I recognized immediately the suggestion that one of the leading ladies of the valley had called me "her one true love."

All in all it was a lot of good clean fun. But a fellow must be careful with stuff like that. I will never forget Duke Meyer, an aging rewrite man for the old Call-Bulletin.

"And this is for those SOB's on the copy desk to cut out," he wrote spelling out the phrase in a time when the letters alone would have been offensive in a family newspaper.

And of course, my friends, that is the line they missed.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be a little pushed out of shape when your impulsive, generous gesture is not fully appreciated. Don't give in order to get.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Another will try to use you today to make himself look good in front of an audience. Let him know you're not a patsy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something you'll say unthinkingly will wound a sensitive friend. Apologize promptly so it doesn't leave a scar.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be careful not to impose too selfishly upon the kindness of one who has already gone out of his way for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't ask advice from a close companion today unless you're prepared for a candid reply. What you'd hear would likely displease you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Pay particular attention to common sense health practices today. Be moderate physically, and in partaking of the good things of life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't rule the roost with too heavy a hand today. Friction can be avoided if you aren't too impatient or temperamental.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're likely to do more talking and thinking about what should be done at this time instead of doing it. Get off your duff. Act.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Yesterday you were a wise and prudent shopper. Not so today. Be careful. You could buy a pig in a poke.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be understanding and tolerant of one weaker than yourself today. Encouraging words and a pat on the back will be deeply appreciated.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be too flirtatious or coy today. It could backfire if someone you were just putting on a bit takes you seriously.

Mori announces transit data plan

Assemblyman Floyd Mori has announced south county residents may now get information on freeway construction, mass transit plans or any other transportation - related matters by dialing a toll - free number connected to the State Department of Transportation.

The number is 800-952-5276.

Mori said residents are also invited to offer suggestions or complaints about transportation problems. Caltrans is seeking public opinion on the state transportation system in order to bring about improvements.

The call-in program is a six-month experiment being conducted by the Caltrans office of Environmental and Community Affairs under provisions of a 1973 law designed to bring government closer to the people. Other agencies are also authorized to implement the program.

Requests for information or suggestions will be relayed promptly to area offices for responses by telephone or letter, Mori added. Calls will be received from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

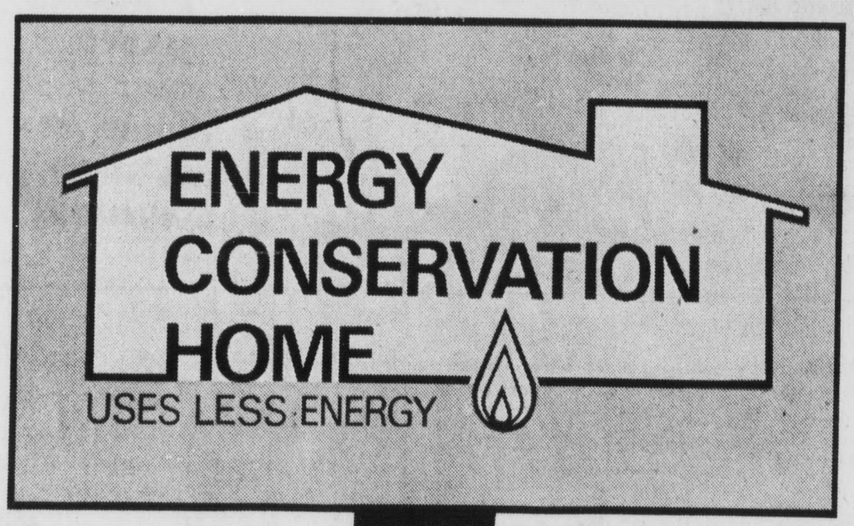
Court denies motion

LIVERMORE — A motion to dismiss battery charges against John Rutter of Dublin was denied Friday morning by Judge John A. Lewis.

Rutter's attorney, Wayne Witchez, argued for dismissal on the grounds of civil compromise, claiming the case had been prejudiced by pre - trial proceedings.

Rutter faces charges of battery stemming from a June 18, 1974, incident. A trial date will be set on Thursday, Apr. 17, at 9:30 a.m.

You've worked hard to buy a house. So, buy a house that will work hard for you.



Just look for the Energy Conservation Home sign. It's a symbol of savings through efficient use of energy. When seen on a new house or apartment, it means that the builder is offering a home designed to conserve energy and save money.

All Energy Conservation Homes use gas for comfort heating, water heating and cooking. (Because gas puts less strain on our natural resources.)

Also, the walls and ceilings have been insulated, and exterior doors are weatherstripped to save energy in heating and cooling.

Because of today's energy problems, and rising utility rates, conserving gas and electricity is of the utmost importance. When home hunting, look for residences displaying the Energy Conservation Home symbol. PG and E

Vintage Hills Kindergarten signup slated

Vintage Hills School in Pleasanton will accept registrations for four-year-olds Monday to enter kindergarten in the fall.

Parents are required to bring proof of their child's age since state law limits enrollment to those students who will be four years and nine months old on or before Sept. 1, 1975.

Recent state legislation further requires that before a child be admitted to school, he must have received immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, polio and measles. Proof of these immunizations must be presented to the school by the week before fall classes begin.

Children needing these innoculations may obtain them at the Alameda County Health Department on 3730 Hopyard Road, room 102 in Pleasanton. Each Thursday an inoculation clinic is held from 3-5 p.m. at a cost of $1 per person.

For further information on kindergarten registration, contact Vintage Hills School, 900 E. Angela Place, at 462-4100.

CITY OF PLEASANTON COUNTY OF ALAMEDA STATE OF CALIFORNIA RESOLUTION NO. 75-67

RESOLUTION ESTABLISHING A SYSTEM FOR ALLOCATION OF 250 EQUIVALENT SINGLE FAMILY DWELLING UNIT SEWER CONNECTIONS TO THE SUNOL SEWAGE TREATMENT PLANT.

WHEREAS, the Regional Water Quality Control Board, San Francisco Bay Region, on April 24, 1973 amended Order 71-79 and placed a Cease and Desist Order against further connections to the City of Pleasanton Sunol Sewage Treatment Plant for any new construction not specifically receiving building permits prior to April 10, 1973; and

WHREAS, since April 24, 1973, the City Coucil has authorized the expenditure of over $350,000 in improvements to the City's Sunol Sewage Treatment Plant; and

WHEREAS, said improvements have included the construction of a new digester, construction of a bubble over the trickling filter, new media for the trickling filter, and rental of additional properties from the City and County of San Francisco upon which holding ponds have been constructed to retain run-off from the City's pre-existing spray fields; and

WHEREAS, at its meeting of March 18, 1975 the Regional Water Quality Control Board, San Francisco Bay Region, considered a request from the City of Pleasanton for removal of the Cease and Desist Order in order to allow 541 Equivalent Single Family Unit Sewage Connections to the City's Sunol Plant; and

Section 2. TIMING.

1. Single Family Units - For all Single Family units listed in categories 1 and 3 of Section 1, the required sewer connection fee shall be paid to the Building Division of the Department of Housing and Community Development within 60 days of the adoption of this resolution. The necessary building plans must be submitted to the aforementioned department for plan checking and review within said 60 day period. Any units which have not been requested within 60 days from the date of the adoption of this resolution shall be subject to reallocation to any other category set forth herein at the discretion of the City Council. Any sewer connections which have been paid for but for which no development plans have been submitted for review within the time period specified above, shall be deemed void and the fee which has been paid shall be deemed forfeited.

2. Industrial and Commercial.

a. Holding Tanks.

(1) All existing holding tanks that have sewers available to them shall pay the necessary sewer connection fee within two weeks of the adoption of this resolution, and must be connected to said sewer line within 30 days from the date of adoption of this resolution. Any tanks not so connected shall be deemed to have forfeited the sewer connection fee which has been paid and a new sewer connection fee shall be required.

(2) Existing holding tanks which do not have sewers available to them must pay the required sewer connection fee within 30 days of the adoption of this resolution and must construct any necessary sewer lines and connect to the sewer system within 4 months of the date of adoption of this resolution. Any holding tank unit not so connected pursuant to this subsection within the time period specified above, shall be deemed to have forfeited its sewer connection fee and a new sewer connection fee be required.

b. The 5 Equivalent Sewer Units reserved for the City and County of San Francisco shall be so reserved for a period of 6 months. If, at the end of said 6 month period the necessary sewer connection fees and building plans respectfully have not been paid and submitted to the Building Division of the Department of Housing and Community Development, the City Council may at its discretion re-allocate these units to any other category set forth in this resolution.

c. The 16 unspecified Equivalent Sewer Connection Units shall be reserved for industrial and commercial developers for a period of 4 months from the date of adoption of this resolution. Said units shall be distributed to developers only upon conclusion of Design Review approval and payment of the necessary sewer connection fee. Building plans shall be submitted to the Building Division of the Department of Housing and Community Development within the above time limit, otherwise the fees which have been paid shall be deemed forfeited and the City Council may at its discretion allocate these units to any other category specified in this resolution.

3. Multiple Family Dwelling Units. Said units shall be allocated to developers after receipt of design review approval. After receipt of said approval the necessary sewer connection fee shall be paid and necessary building plans must be submitted to the Building Division of the Department of Housing and Community Development. Said permits must be paid for within 60 days from the adoption of this resolution and plans submitted within 90 days of the date upon which the sewer connection was paid. If the necessary plans have not been submitted pursuant to the time period specified above, the City Council may, at its discretion, allocate said units to any other category set forth herein, and the fees which have been paid, shall be deemed forfeited.

Section 3. EXTENSIONS.

1. The City Council may at its discretion grant individual extensions upon request and upon showing of good cause for the need for such extensions.

2. If the development plans have been submitted to the Building Division of the Department of Housing and Community Development within the time period specified above and the necessary plan checking has not been completed within the time periods specified in this resolution for each category, no forfeiture of fees shall occur.

Section 4. MISCELLANEOUS.

1. All permits referred to above in categories 2(c), 3(a) and 4 of Section 1 shall be issued by the Building Division of the Department of Housing and Community Development on a first come, first served basis. The permits otherwise designated in Section 1 shall be held for each specified user until such time as the time limits referred to in Section 2 have expired and then may be distributed, on a first come, first served basis, at the discretion of the City Council.

2. Within 14 days after building plans have been approved by the Building Division of the Department of Housing and Community Development, the required building permit shall be obtained. Failure to obtain a building permit within the time period specified herein shall cause the outstanding sewer connection permit to become void and the fee paid shall be deemed forfeited.

3. Any building plans submitted pursuant to this resolution, in order to toll the running of the time limits herein shall be of a quality acceptable to the Chief Building Inspector of the Building Division of the Department of Housing and Community Development. No plans shall be acceptable which are rudimentary plans and it is the opinion of the Chief Building Inspector that they do not meet normal City standards to allow plan checking review.

4. The sewer connection permits allocated by this resolution are issued pursuant to authority of the Regional Water Quality Control Board, San Francisco Bay Region. Although the City Council has undertaken and will continue to undertake, necessary steps to keep the City's Sunol sewage treatment plant operating within the standards established by the above Board, the City Council cannot guarantee to developers and individuals set forth in this resolution that the allocated permits will be available indefinitely. The Regional Water Quality Control Board acts independently of the City Council of the City of Pleasanton and its future actions and requirements, regarding sewage treatment and disposal are subject to change. Thus, any developer or individual is advised to obtain the allocated sewer connection permit as soon as possible in order to be certain that any proposed development may proceed.

Section 5. The City Clerk shall cause this resolution to be published in the Pleasanton Times in order to insure public dissemination of the contents therof.

Section 6. This resolution shall become effective immediately upon its passage and adoption.
